

Polluted water affects our everyday lives.

Here are 5 ways you can support clean water!

1 Visit Your Local Waterbody

Dip your toe in, walk a trail, go fishing, post a picture on social media, or paint its beauty - just get outside and enjoy.

2 Bring it Home

What we do today makes a difference for future generations. Simple things you do at home can improve water quality.

3 Be Part of the Solution

Call, email or write your decision makers and let them know that you support investment in clean water. Find out who represents you by visiting www.ivote.de.gov.

4 Become a Citizen Scientist

Help water quality experts study Delaware's water! Examples of "citizen science" include collecting data on pollution and aquatic life, cleaning up a local stream, or teaching children about our ecosystem. We can connect your interests with a current project.

5 Become a Water Warrior

Our Water Warrior program teaches potential citizen advocates, like you, about where our drinking water comes from, where our wastewater goes, what you can do in your own backyard to improve water quality, and how to become a champion for clean water.
